what’s new?

Opening doors for biology students into engineering

The Bioengineering Summer Institute provides high school students who excel in biology a new way to enter the Schulich School of Engineering.

This program allows students to pursue their interest in understanding the human body and developing biomedical devices — and to use it to begin a career in engineering.

Students admitted to engineering through the biology-based admission route (see admission requirements on page 14) will take part in the Bioengineering Summer Institute’s four-week program, which is specifically designed to inspire engineering enthusiasts. It connects each student’s strength in biology with biomedical engineering applications. Through interactive and project-based learning, students will be prepared with the necessary physics knowledge to succeed in engineering.

Learn more at schulich.ucalgary.ca/future-students/undergraduate/admissions/bioengineering-admission.

Creating internship opportunities for all science students

The Faculty of Science is pleased to announce the creation of the Science Internship Program. This will provide all science students the opportunity to complete a paid internship.

The new program, ranging from eight to 16 months, will replace the existing internships that were offered only to students majoring in computer science, ecology or actuarial science.

Establishing a new internship program that includes all Faculty of Science students is part of the University of Calgary’s ongoing focus on experiential learning opportunities.

The new Science Internship Program will be available for all science majors as an optional experience in their third year of studies starting in fall 2020.

Alumni Note:

If a student’s courses are from a Canadian high school, the chart below will help determine equivalent required courses in their home province or territory.
admission information

Dual credit students
Dual credit students applying for admission to a degree program will be considered high school applicants if they haven’t completed more than 30 units (10+ courses) at a post-secondary institution. They will be considered transfer students if they have completed more than 30 units (10+ courses).

Transfer students
Students who have attended an accredited/recognized post-secondary institution and have completed 12 or more units (4+ courses) will be considered for admission based on their post-secondary academic standing. Some programs may require students to complete, or be in the process of completing, specific course requirements at the high school and/or post-secondary level.

Learn more at ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/p-5-3.

Indigenous students
Students who self-identify as Indigenous on their application form will automatically receive consideration, first under the regular competitive admission process, and then under the Indigenous admissions process, if needed. If granted admission under the Indigenous process, students will be asked to submit documentation to verify their Indigenous ancestry before registering for classes.

Indigenous students who are missing requirements for their desired program, or would like additional support with transitioning to university, may be able to join the Indigenous Student Access Program (ISAP). Designed to help students prepare to enter a faculty-based program, ISAP consists of university classes, advising, cultural support, peer support and tutorials. This full-time program qualifies for student loans and other sources of funding.

Learn more at ucalgary.ca/future-students/undergraduate/indigenous.

English language requirements
There are three ways to meet our English language entrance requirements: high school studies, English language test scores, and the Academic Communications Certificate (ACC).

1. High school studies: To meet the English language requirements with high school studies, students must have completed three years of study with English as the primary language of instruction at an accredited high school.

2. English language test scores: If a student’s high school education does not meet UCalgary’s English language requirements, they can present one of the minimum scores listed in the table below.

3. Academic Communication Certificate (ACC): The ACC is for English learners who want to enter a university program. If a student applies for undergraduate admission and completes the ACC by the end of summer term in the year of application, they could be considered for conditional admission to a degree program.

The University of Calgary acknowledges the traditional territories of the people of the Treaty 7 region in Southern Alberta, which includes the Blackfoot Confederacy (comprising the Siksika, Piikani, and Kainai First Nations), as well as the Tsuut’ina First Nation and the Stoney Nakoda (including the Chiniki, Bearspaw, and Wesley First Nations). The City of Calgary is also home to the Métis Nation of Alberta, Region III. UCalgary is situated on land adjacent to where the Bow River meets the Elbow River, and the traditional Blackfoot name of this place is “Moh’kins’tsis,” which we now call the City of Calgary.
