Message from the Vice-Chancellor

Edith Cowan University (ECU) courses are developed in consultation with industry, and our exceptional teaching staff have the industry experience and networks to benefit you. That's why, as an ECU student, you can expect access to placement opportunities, fieldwork, practicums and networking events as part of your studies.

This approach has been rewarded with a five-star rating for teaching quality over the past twelve years, along with consistently high ratings for graduate satisfaction and student support, as reported in the Good Universities Guide.

All members of the ECU community are encouraged to familiarise themselves with, acknowledge and adopt, our University's guiding values. These are:

- Integrity – behaving ethically and pursuing rigorous intellectual positions
- Respect – valuing individual differences and diversity
- Rational Inquiry – motivated by evidence and reasoning
- Personal Excellence – striving to realise potential

I wish you all the best for your time with us at ECU. I hope you succeed in your studies, make lifelong friends and enjoy all that the university experience has to offer.

Professor Steve Chapman CBE

Getting You Started

Virtual Information Pack

The Virtual Information Pack (VIP) will take you step by step through the information and actions needed to respond to your offer, activate your accounts and ensure you are able to complete your enrolment.

All students should complete this after they receive their offer letter.

There is a direct link to the Virtual Information Pack on the ECU homepage.

More info:

Web: ecu.edu.au/new-students/virtual-information-pack

Ask Us keywords: Virtual Information Pack

Ask Us

Ask Us is a knowledge-base of frequently asked questions that you can search to find out information and seek answers. Look for the 'Got A Question? Ask Us' link at the bottom of every ECU webpage. If you can't find the answer in Ask Us, you can use the same service to send us your question or chat to us live online.

Within this Student Guide, wherever you find a reference to 'Ask Us Keywords', type the supplied keywords into Ask Us to obtain further information or links to relevant webpages.

More info:

Web: askus2.ecu.edu.au

Orientation

ECU's essential orientation program runs prior to and into the start of semester. We have a range of fun and informative events planned for students during the orientation period to help you successfully transition to the uni life and thrive when starting your studies.

Events are offered at the Joondalup, Mount Lawley and South West campuses. You can attend any event location, even if you study at another campus or are enrolled to study online.

- Visit ecu.edu.au/orientation to check out the events and register for those you are able to attend. Some events book out fast so it's important to register online early to avoid missing out!
- Get ready to enjoy your first days on campus! If you miss an orientation event or are an off-campus student who can't attend, you will find some helpful recordings and resources on our Orientation webpage, including a series of modules that will teach you everything you need to get started. These are called SLIDE: Student Learning in a Digital Environment.

Activating Your Student Login

You are automatically allocated an ECU student account when you apply for a course at ECU, and it is activated when you work through your Virtual Information Pack (VIP). The VIP process will let you know your username and password which you use to login to the University's systems.

This will give you access to your Student Portal, SIMO (Student Information Management Online), ECU student email, the learning management system Blackboard (MyECU), campus Wi-Fi and the student computers on campus.

For any queries or problems in activating or accessing your account contact the IT Service Desk.

More info:

Student ID Card

You need to arrange your university identity (ID) card when you enrol as a student with ECU. Your Student ID Card has multiple uses and serves as:

- Your photo identification as an ECU student
- Your borrowing card for ECU campus libraries and multimedia resources
- Your print credit card for printing and photocopying
- Your Transperth SmartRider travel concession card, if you so choose
- Your confirmation of identity at examinations
- Your access card for entry to areas related to your course and after hours access to the eLabs

New and replacement cards can be obtained from Multimedia Resources on each campus during library opening hours:

- Joondalup: eLab counter, Building 31
- Mount Lawley: eLab counter, Building 10
- South West: eLab counter, Building 3

If you can't make it to a campus to get your Student ID Card you can apply online.

More info:

Web: intranet.ecu.edu.au/student/support/it-services/getting-connected/student-id-cards

Student Portal

Your Student Portal is your gateway to a range of services and information to support your study including Blackboard, SIMO, your student email, ECU Library Services and a wide range of university information.

To access your Student Portal click on the Student/Staff Portal button on the ECU homepage, then login using the ECU Login ID and password you set up when completing your Virtual Information Package.

More info:

Web: portal.ecu.edu.au

Ask Us keywords: Portal

Student Information Management Online

Student Information Management Online, also known as SIMO is where you can:

- Enrol in units before the start of each semester
- Obtain your class timetable
- See your exam times and dates
- View your results

You first access SIMO when you complete the Virtual Information Pack and use it to enrol in your first semester units. You can then login to SIMO through the login links on the left hand side of the Student Portal.

More info:

Web: portal.ecu.edu.au

Ask Us keywords: SIMO

Blackboard

Blackboard is the online learning environment where you can access unit specific information such as reading lists and forums, and communicate with your lecturer.

Each unit uses Blackboard in different ways depending on the lecturer's preferences.

If you are an off-campus student, Blackboard is where you access all your unit's study materials.

You can access Blackboard from the links on the left hand menu in the Student Portal.

More info:

Web: blackboard.ecu.edu.au

Ask Us keywords: Blackboard

Student Email

All students are provided with an ECU student email account. It is important to check your student email regularly as the University will send you important information such as re-enrolment periods, exam timetables, semester results and library notices.

You can access your student email by clicking 'My ECU Email' in the left hand side menu in the Student Portal, which will take you to the Office 365 login page. Login in using your student email address (username@our.ecu.edu.au) and ECU password.

Managing Your Course

Confirming Your Unit Enrolment

It is your responsibility to confirm that your enrolment details, unit selection and personal details are correct. You can do this through SIMO. Please advise the Student Hub if you notice there are any errors or omissions in the details, or if you need assistance with your enrolment.

More info:

Visit: Student Hub

Email: enquiries@ecu.edu.au

Ask Us keywords: confirming enrolment

Advanced Standing

You can apply for Advanced Standing to receive credit towards an ECU degree if you have relevant prior learning, which you obtained through employment or studies at another university or recognised tertiary institution (including TAFE). This is sometimes referred to as Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL).

More info:

Web: ecu.edu.au/future-students/course-entry/advanced-standing

ECU Handbook

The ECU Handbook provides you with details of all courses at ECU. You can find details of your course structure, major, minor and units.

More info:

Web: handbook.ecu.edu.au

Credit Points

The Credit Point system is designed to help you keep track of your progress towards completing your qualification. You will find the following basic information helpful:

- To complete a single Bachelor degree, you require 360 – 480 credit points.
- If you are studying full-time, you are completing between 45 – 60 credit points per semester.
- You can find out the credit point value of your units by checking the ECU handbook.
- The majority of undergraduate units at ECU are 15 credit points.

Course Advice, Changes or Withdrawal

If you want more information about your study options, are thinking of changing your course, withdrawing from a unit or wish to find out more about your career options, there are a range of departments that can help. The below services can explain what alternatives are available:

- Careers and Employability Services – for career planning
- Student Hub – for course advice, study planning and administrative assistance
- Student Recruitment – for advice on alternative courses

IMPORTANT: International students who are considering changing their course/major must be aware of the implications it may have on maintaining their Student Visa. International students must call 134 328 and arrange an appointment with a Student Success Officer in order to change their course.

More info:

Visit: Student Hub (see page 9)

Ask Us keywords: Course advice, Course change

Re-enrolments

You will need to re-enrol on SIMO for both Semester 1 and 2 by the set deadlines. Enrolled students (or those on intermit status up to 12 months from the date of intermit) will be advised of these dates via email, and the SIMO homepage.

More info:

Ask Us keywords: Re-enrolment

Examinations

You will be able to access your draft exam timetable on SIMO approximately eight weeks before the examination period and the final exam timetable approximately six weeks before. Queries about exam rules and procedures should be directed via the 'Got a Question? Ask us' link available at the bottom of the ECU homepage and on the Student Portal.

Queries regarding exam content and/or format should be discussed with your lecturer.

More info:

Email: enquiries@ecu.edu.au

Web: intranet.ecu.edu.au/student/my-studies/exams-and-results

Ask Us keywords: Exams

Results

Your final unit results will be released on SIMO approximately four weeks after the final examination period.

On completion of your course, a hard copy official Statement of Academic Record, along with a course complete letter, is mailed to your correspondence address usually within two weeks after the results are available on SIMO. If you require an additional official Statement of Academic Record, you can request one through Student Hub. For further details, please refer to the 'Got a Question? Ask us' link available at the bottom of the ECU homepage and on the Student Portal.

Course Status

Each semester, the University monitors your academic progress and assigns you a course status in line with the University's Admission, Enrolment and Academic Progress Rules.

Good Standing

'Good Standing' applies to students who are making satisfactory course progress. You will commence your first semester of study with ECU on 'Good Standing'.

Probation

'Probation' status is a warning that you are making marginal progress in your course and that your academic performance will be monitored. ECU will advise you in writing if your enrolment has been assigned 'Probation' status.

At Risk

'At Risk' status is a warning that you are deemed to be at risk of being excluded from your course. You will also be restricted to an enrolment of no more than 45 credit points. ECU will advise you in writing if your enrolment has been assigned 'At Risk' status.

Exclusion

Students are excluded from their course when they have failed to achieve satisfactory progress. International students note: being placed on 'Probation', 'At Risk' or 'Excluded' status may have serious implications, as failure to achieve satisfactory academic progress is considered a breach of your Student Visa.

More info:

Ask Us keywords: Academic progression status

Appealing Unit Results or Excluded Course Status

If you are not satisfied with an assessment, unit result, examination or your course status, you have the right to lodge an appeal within 20 business days of the result being released on SIMO.

Library

Library services work in partnership across the University to offer seamless services and a welcoming environment. The digital world can be overwhelming but the library is here to assist you to find the right resources, and support your learning and research on and off-campus. The library helps you save valuable time by enabling you to find what you need. Library resources are discoverable via ECU Worldsearch and your study is supported by several online research and referencing tools and apps.

The Mount Lawley Campus library offers a Curiosity Studio. The resources in this space can help you try new devices and new digital approaches (3D printer, electronics, and makerspace). At Joondalup, you have 24/7 card access to the social learning space, including sleep pods.

Other services offered at ECU libraries include:

- Online access to key academic and scholarly resources (see Library Services overview), assignment support through finding the right information, workshops and peer to peer support.
- Research support.
- Borrowing from the print resources from other Australian university libraries.
- Supporting you through your learning journey (academic integrity, using scholarly resources).
- Bookable quiet study and group learning facilities.
- Computer facilities, including photocopying, scanning and printing.
- Microwave ovens and vending machines.

Referencing

At ECU, all written assessments are required to follow a standard referencing format. Referencing is a formal, systematic way of acknowledging the sources that you have found in your research and used in your assessment. Failing to acknowledge other writers' words, ideas or theories, either intentionally or unintentionally is considered plagiarism.

Follow the ECU Referencing Guide to ensure that you understand and use correct referencing.

Learning Advice

Learning Advisers can assist you with developing your study skills and can answer many questions regarding your studies.

For example:

- How do I keep up with all the reading?
- What should I be doing with my lecture notes?
- How do I know if I'm plagiarising?
- What makes a good essay or assignment at university level?
- How do I reference?

If you would like assistance with these or other study related questions, please check the range of activities and resources offered by Learning Advisers on ECU campuses. These can be found by visiting the Academic Skills Centre, which is accessible through the 'My Communities' tab on your Blackboard homepage.

Financial and Academic Penalty Dates

You should be aware of the census or reporting dates when enrolling in a unit, as these indicate when you can withdraw without incurring a penalty (either financial or academic).

Census Dates

The Census Date is the date on which your enrolment is deemed to be finalised. After the Census Date you will be charged for your unit(s) and start accumulating a HECS-HELP or FEE-HELP debt. You must make any upfront payments and submit any request(s) for Commonwealth assistance by the Census Date.

To withdraw from a unit without incurring the cost for that unit, you must do so before the Census Date.

Counselling Service

The Counselling Service is a free and confidential service to all current ECU students residing in Australia to address any personal issues that impact on your studies. Counsellors can provide you with emotional support, help you understand the problems you have and assist you to find new solutions and new ways of coping. Sometimes, specialised support or treatment from other agencies may be required. If this needs to happen, your counsellor will discuss a referral with you.

You can talk to a counsellor about anything that is causing you concern, such as:

- Balancing study, life and work.
- Managing your time effectively.
- Cultural adjustment and living away from home.
- Feeling stressed, anxious or depressed.
- Difficulty studying, worrying about achievement, doing presentations and exams.
- Problems in relationships with family, friends and partners.
- You have been sexually assaulted (current or past). If you need to report a sexual assault or sexual harassment incident, information on how to do so can be found here: intranet.ecu.edu.au/student/support/sexual-assault-and-harassment/how-do-i-report-a-sexual-assault
- You are having issues around identity
- You are experiencing suicidal thoughts or difficulties with thoughts around harming yourself.

- Liaising with academic staff
- Reading materials in alternative formats
- Alternative examination conditions
- Resource information and advice
- Assistance with Library services
- Provision of assistive equipment and technology
- AUSLAN interpreting services
- Note-taking and transcription services
- Other support as appropriate.

Please contact the Equity, Diversity and Disability Service for a confidential chat, to find out more information or to register as soon as possible to ensure that appropriate assistance and resources can be organised in good time.

Student Success

Student Success is a specialist student support team located on each campus. Its primary function is to work closely with students who need support in maintaining their studies, due to academic or personal issues.

Student Success is an appointment-based, confidential service providing individualised case management. At the initial appointment a Student Success Officer will establish a tailored action plan to determine strategies to overcome barriers to success. Action plans typically involve referrals to a range of services which could include the Student Hub, Learning Advisers, staff within the School as well as traditional specialist services such as Equity, Counselling, Student Health, as well as external agencies, if required.

Student Success work closely with both Domestic and International students to provide a range of advice that focuses on:

- Study load management
- Alternative enrolment options dependent on the students' personal situation
- Providing access to specialised services

In supporting International students, the Student Success team provides:

- Enrolment load monitoring
- Advice regarding student visas and associated processes
- Confirmation of Enrolment (COE) variations
- Department of Home Affairs reporting ramifications.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Student Support

Kurongkurl Katitjin

Kurongkurl Katitjin, pronounced koor-ong-curl cut-it-chin, is a Nyoongar phrase meaning "coming together to learn" and is the name of ECU's Centre for Indigenous Australian Education and Research. Established in 1991, Kurongkurl Katitjin plays a key role in assisting the University to meet its commitment to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

The role encompasses support for whole-of-university activities and programs, including facilitating specific teaching, research and social support to meet the academic and cultural needs of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students.

As an important cultural and social hub for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students, Kurongkurl Katitjin is located on the Mount Lawley Campus, with custom facilities located across all campuses.

Tutorial Assistance

Aboriginal Tutorial and Mentoring Program (ATMP)

The Aboriginal Tutorial and Mentoring Program (ATMP) aims to improve the educational outcomes of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students in tertiary courses to the same levels as those of non-Aboriginal Australians.

The ATMP covers the cost of engaging a tutor to provide academic and study skills assistance to eligible students.

Students can receive up to two hours tutorial assistance per subject per week, which will be supplemented by an additional total of five hours exam preparation (conditions apply).

The Centre for Learning and Teaching facilitates ATMP for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students at ECU.

To be eligible for ATMP, you must be of Australia Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander descent, and enrolled (internally or externally) on a full-time or part-time basis in an undergraduate education program. Students will need to complete a student application form every semester.

First year students are strongly encouraged to apply for ATMP to help with your studies in your foundation year.

Bridging, postgraduate and WAAPA students are not entitled to ATMP assistance. However applications from students will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

Student Rooms

Kurongkurl Katitjin provides dedicated study and relaxation areas for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students at ECU.

These areas provide additional computing facilities, quiet space for tutoring sessions and a social hub to connect as a student community. Access can be arranged by contacting Kurongkurl Katitjin.

Elders-in-Residence

Each ECU campus has a local Nyoongar Elder-in-Residence. Elders provide high level advice and support for Aboriginal cultural activities across the University to all staff and students.

Appointments can be arranged by email via Kurongkurl Katitjin.

Maintaining Your Visa

Students must comply with their visa conditions and ECU enrolment requirements in order to retain their Student Visa.

Students will be reported and visas may be cancelled for:

- Not meeting course requirements in relation to enrolment, attendance and satisfactory academic progress including:
 - Studying less than a full-time load without approval from a Student Success Officer (except when completing units in the final semester of the course)
 - Withdrawing or deferring studies without authority
- Failing to provide ECU with address/change of address details within seven days of arrival or address change
- Not maintaining overseas student health cover (OSHC)

Students are encouraged to familiarise themselves with these conditions and any others by visiting the Department of Home Affairs website.

Who do I Call in an Emergency

If your situation is immediately life-threatening or urgent:

Call 000 from a landline or
Call 112 from a mobile.

Request immediate police attendance and/or ambulance if needed.

ECU Security can be contacted at any time (day or night).

Telephone: (61 8) 6304 3333

ECU Security will also follow up with other ECU support staff or Police and Emergency Services if required.

Report an Incident

You can report a sexual assault directly to ECU on (61 8) 6304 2282 all hours, or by email: reportassault@ecu.edu.au

Reporting outside ECU:

- WA Police (131 444) all hours
- The Sexual Assault Resource Centre (SARC) on (61 8) 6458 1828 or 1800 199 888 (free from landline) all hours

Please let an ECU staff member know you have made a report so we can support you.

What Will Happen if I Make a Report?

Your report will be escalated to a senior member of ECU staff as soon as possible. They will attempt to contact you as soon as they receive the report and ask how you wish to proceed. They will arrange any support you may need, including police reporting, counselling, medical appointments, or rehousing.

You may also choose no action be taken other than ECU providing appropriate support.

Fee Invoices and Due Dates

Tuition fees are payable each teaching period that you are enrolled in a unit. Your fee invoice, which is also known as your Statement of Account, will be available at the beginning of each teaching period (eg. Semester, Trimester, Term) through SIMO. After you have enrolled into your unit(s), and approximately 2-4 weeks prior to the due date, you will receive an email to your student account to advise you of the availability of your Statement of Account.

If you are enrolled into teaching periods other than or in addition to Semester 1 and Semester 2, you will be invoiced separately for these units prior to the relevant due date for that teaching period.

Please note that the due date for payment of fees is not the 'Census' or 'Financial Penalty' date.

Student Services and Amenities Fee

In October 2011, the Australian Parliament passed the Higher Education Legislation Amendment (Student Services and Amenities) Bill 2011 to allow universities and other higher education providers to charge a compulsory Student Services and Amenities Fee (SSAF) from 2012. Under the legislation, universities are allowed to charge an annual SSAF which is indexed annually.

The SSAF revenue is allocated entirely to the provision of student services and amenities, ranging from student social clubs and societies, to health, counselling, sport and recreation, student welfare, careers advice, student advocacy, orientation, production and dissemination to students of media, orientation support and student representation.

Your SSAF Fee is not automatically included in any HECS-HELP or FEE-HELP payments and must be paid in addition to your tuition fees. However you may be able to opt to defer payment of the Services and Amenities Fee using SA-HELP via your SIMO account, if eligible.

Getting Around

Public Transport

Public transport to ECU is easy. Our Active Transport maps, which are available through our website, illustrate the bus routes and bus stops, CAT bus routes and stops, as well as the train and bus stations.

Joondalup Campus

Our Joondalup Campus is located a short distance from the Joondalup Train Station – making it easy to catch public transport to ECU. You can simply walk from the station to the Joondalup Campus, or there is a free CAT bus service that runs directly from the train station to the Joondalup Campus.

Mount Lawley Campus

The Mount Lawley Campus is located on Alexander Drive, and is well serviced by buses that run to and from Perth every 15-20 minutes, as well as direct services to Morley Bus Station, Alexander Heights and Ballajura.

South West Campus

The South West Campus is located in South Bunbury and is well serviced by TransRegional buses.

Parking on Campus

All vehicles parked on University grounds on weekdays, between 7.00am and 5.00pm, are required to display either a current valid parking permit or a valid metered parking ticket. All ECU parking areas and bays are clearly marked. You must park within the appropriate marked bay in accordance with your permit/ticket entitlements. If you wish to park on campus, you will need to purchase a Student (Red) parking permit online. For short-term parking, daily and weekly scratchies can be purchased from the campus cafés or Co-Op Shop.

For security reasons, students with a current permit who remain or arrive on campus after 5.00pm are permitted to park in staff bays (marked blue) in order to be closer to the university buildings.

When parking in an ACROD disabled bay you are required to clearly display a current ACROD permit as well as a valid ECU Permit. These bays are enforced 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Personal Safety

While Perth, Bunbury and your ECU campus are very safe, clean and friendly, it is important to keep in mind that our campuses are open to the public. Thus, you are encouraged to use your common sense, remain vigilant and be aware of your personal belongings and surroundings.

A few things to keep in mind:

- Keep your valuables in a safe place.
- Do not leave bags containing money or items of sentimental value unattended.
- At night, walk with a friend and keep to well-lit areas. If on-campus, you can ask Campus Security to walk you to your vehicle or around campus.
- Keep your passport, personal items and money in a safe place at all times.
- Always lock the door to your room/home.

The ECU Student Guild is an independent organisation governed by students. The Guild is involved in advocating for the interests of students to the University, promoting student clubs, organising social events, communicating with students, and providing academic and welfare services. Guild membership is free and there are Guild offices on each campus with kitchen and lounge facilities available during opening hours. For more information about the Guild and how to use its services, visit ecuguild.org.au

Guild Student Assist Officers

Guild Student Assist Officers help students with issues relating to academic or personal welfare. They provide information, advocacy, support and referral services for students in need. GSA Officers are independent from the University and work with students to voice their interests in any disputes with ECU.

ECU Environmental Programs

Environmental programs have been developed to help achieve targets set to reduce ECU's carbon footprint. These programs focus on reducing the impacts of the following areas, making ECU a more sustainable organisation.

Energy

ECU aims to be energy efficient by encouraging staff and students to turn off electricity when not in use. We use energy efficient lighting and buildings are designed with passive solar in mind where possible.

Water

ECU is aware that Perth has limited fresh water and we try to be innovative and conservative when using water.

Our toilets are now all water efficient and/or waterless and kitchen and bathroom taps have water saving flow regulators.

We use mostly groundwater on our garden and landscaped areas and use waterwise plants.

ECU has phased out the use of single-use plastic water bottles and straws.

Waste

ECU provides separation of waste to ensure we recycle as much as possible and reduce the waste we send to landfill.

We encourage students and staff to recycle and provide signage and information around campus to ensure this happens.

We support the ethos of reducing waste and reusing where possible.

Transport

ECU encourages active forms of travel such as cycling, trains, walking and buses to and from campus with the aim of reducing air pollution associated with driving.

Web: ecu.edu.au/about-ecu/environment

Smoke-Free Campus

ECU has been smoke-free since 2012 to provide a healthier clean air environment for staff, students and visitors. The smoke-free initiative applies to all University campuses and facilities including car parks, ovals and all University leased premises.

Information and support is available for anyone wanting to quit smoking.

Your University

Student Charter

ECU is committed to providing a challenging education environment in which all members of its culturally and geographically diverse community can realise their potential. The needs of the students are our highest priority, and the University will seek to continuously improve the quality of its courses and services to students. In return, ECU invites students to honour their responsibilities to their studies and to contribute to the life of the University. Together, the University and the student body will strive to ensure that every graduate has been given the opportunity to enjoy a fulfilling and rewarding learning experience which has promoted their academic, social and personal growth.

The University has pledged to provide all students with equal opportunities, and embraces its statutory obligations to guarantee an environment free of racial, sexual, religious, cultural and physical discrimination. In addition, the University is committed to the values of integrity, respect, rational inquiry and personal excellence, and the Student Charter is informed by these values. It sets out the standards of provision which students are expected to assume as members of the University.

All students are encouraged to read the full student charter which is available online.

ECU Act, Statutes and Rules

The Edith Cowan University Act (1984) establishes the University as a corporate body comprising the Council, the members of staff and you, the enrolled students.

The Act provides for the governance, staffing and financial management of the University.

The internal legislation of the University consists of Statutes and Rules (regulating aspects of the University's affairs); and the Lands and Traffic By-laws. Information about the ECU Act and internal legislation of the University is available on the Strategic and Governance Services webpage.

It is your responsibility as an ECU student to be aware of, understand and comply with the University's Rules, By-Laws and Statutes.

This section lists some important rules that are intended to guide your conduct and behaviour throughout your studies at ECU. Please familiarise yourself with these.

Academic Misconduct

ECU regards any form of academic misconduct as unacceptable. Academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to:

- Plagiarism
- Unauthorised collaboration
- Cheating in assessments
- Theft of another students' work
- Making a false declaration about the material submitted for assessment.

The University defines academic misconduct as follows:

Academic Misconduct – Any conduct in relation to academic work that is dishonest or unfair.

Cheating – Dishonest conduct in any assessment.

Plagiarism – To knowingly or unknowingly present as one's own work the ideas or writings of another, without appropriate acknowledgment or referencing.

This includes, but is not limited to:

- paraphrasing or copying text without acknowledgment of the source
- copying, whether identically or in essence, the text of another student's assignment or other students' assignments
- copying, whether identically or in essence, of visual representations (for example cartoons, line drawings, photos, paintings and computer programs).

General Misconduct

Procedures for reporting and dealing with allegations of general misconduct are set out in General Misconduct Rules (Students). ECU regards any form of general misconduct as unacceptable. General Misconduct means misconduct, other than Academic Misconduct, on University premises or in connection with University activities by a student and includes, but is not limited to, conduct which:

- a) breaches the University's Act, Statutes, Rules and/or By-laws or any Resolution of the Council or is deemed or stated to be misconduct under the Statutes, Rules and/or By-laws or any Resolution of the Council; or
- b) constitutes a serious impediment to the carrying out of the University's function, including those academic and administrative functions which are properly ancillary to those provided in the Act or which relate to the participation by any person in the activities of the University; or
- c) breaches any of the student obligations described in Schedule 1 of the General Misconduct Rules (Students); or
- d) is otherwise detrimental to the proper conduct of the University.

Copyright

Legislation

The Copyright Act 1968 (Cth) protects the exclusive rights of copyright owners (usually, the creators of the work, their employer or a publisher) to use, publish and otherwise exploit copyright material. The copyright owner's permission is generally required to deal with copyright material in this way. However, in order to balance the rights of owners and the benefits to the education sector of being able to deal with a wide range of copyright material, the Copyright Act permits use of copyright material without the consent of copyright owners under prescribed conditions.

Under the Copyright Act a 'fair dealing' with a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work does not constitute copyright infringement where it is for the purpose of research or study. Where a work is dealt with for the purposes of research or study and the portion of the work dealt with is a 'reasonable portion' that dealing is a 'fair dealing.' A reasonable portion is one article in a journal, periodical or newspaper (or more than one article if on the same subject matter within that publication); or 10 percent or one chapter of a work published in an edition of 10 pages or more. Where the reproduction is in excess of the above limits, whether or not it amounts to a 'fair dealing' depends upon several factors such as:

- The purpose and nature of the dealing (paid research is not as likely to be considered 'fair dealing')
- The amount and substantiality of the part being copied (this is qualitative rather than quantitative)
- The possibility of purchasing the work within a reasonable time at an ordinary commercial price
- The effect of the dealing upon the potential market (i.e. whether the dealing is likely to deprive the copyright owner of revenue)

Diagrams, tables, graphs, maps, photographs and colour plates of artwork are each complete 'works' in their own right. To copy them separately from the text that they accompany means you are copying the whole work and need to check the fair dealing conditions above.

Copies made under the fair dealing provisions may not be used for any other purpose. When material copied under fair dealing is used for any other purpose, the copy becomes an infringing copy.

The copyright owner's permission must be obtained.

In addition to copyright, the creators of a literary, artistic, musical, dramatic works, computer programs or films may have moral rights under the Copyright Act which entail reasonable acknowledgement and attribution. Learning Advisers and your lecturers/ tutors can help you to understand how to acknowledge and reference other sources of information.

Breach of Copyright

The University takes a very serious view of any copyright breaches including the use of any University facilities (such as the IT system) to infringe copyright. All students are subject to, and expected to abide by, the University policies that are in place to ensure compliance with the Copyright Act 1968 (Cth).

You are also advised that legal action may be taken by the owner of copyright against students personally if the owner considers that its rights have been infringed by a student.

ECU Policies

Governance Services maintains the University Policies Database – a searchable database of all of ECU's policies. As well as keeping the policies database up-to-date, Governance Services publishes a newsletter which lists changes made to the policies database. The policies database webpage may assist you if you wish to learn more about ECU policies or procedures that may be relevant to you.

Privacy Policy

ECU will not disclose personal or health information about students to another student, to people outside the University (including parents of students) or to staff who have no need for access to the information, unless you authorise the disclosure in writing.

Exceptions to this general application of the Privacy Policy may include obligations imposed on ECU by law. The University's Privacy Policy provides more detail and is available from the University Policies Database.

Student Complaints

Concerns that you may have about your experience at ECU can often be easily resolved by discussing them with staff.

If you have a complaint about ECU's service or administrative practices you are welcome to discuss your concerns with a relevant member of staff involved in the service delivery or administration.

If your complaint is not able to be resolved in this way you can lodge a formal complaint. A Formal Complaint Form and further information regarding the handling of student complaints at ECU can be found at the Office of Governance Services webpage below. Students wishing to lodge an appeal against an academic result, or request a review of academic progression status should refer to the steps and deadlines outlined in the 'Managing Your Course' section of this guide, on page 9.

Equity Complaints

As part of its commitment to the principles of equal opportunity in study and work, ECU has internal procedures for the resolution of concerns around harassment and discrimination. If you feel that you have been unfairly or unlawfully treated in your dealings with the University or its staff, then you should in the first instance try to talk to the person with whom you have a complaint.

Dialogue at this stage is intended to be a constructive opportunity for the student and the ECU staff member to work together to identify ways in which to improve your student experience. University Contact Officers (UCOs) can provide assistance to students by providing referral information on equity policies and practices, details of services and support available to assist in resolving issues of concern, and to provide support when meeting with ECU staff. To learn more, including contact details of UCOs go to intranet.ecu.edu.au/staff/centres/strategic-and-governance-services/our-services/strategy-and-performance/ally-and-university-contact-officers-ucos

If you cannot resolve the complaint in this way, or you feel that you cannot talk to staff directly about your concerns, you can lodge a formal complaint with the Student Complaints Officer.

External Assistance

WA Ombudsman

If you are not satisfied that the University's internal complaint and appeal process has been conducted fairly, one final avenue of appeal available, is through the WA Ombudsman. The WA Ombudsman is independent and external to the University and does not charge any fees for services provided. You can complain to the WA Ombudsman about any decision, action or inaction of the University, but only if the complaint is related to a matter of administration and the matter affects you personally.

Freedom of Information (FOI)

If information is not routinely available, The Freedom of Information Act (1992) provides you with a right to apply for documents held by the University; and a mechanism by which you (and the public generally) are able to ensure that personal information in documents is accurate, complete, up to date and not misleading. It is the aim of the University to make information available promptly and at the least possible cost, outside of the FOI process where possible and appropriate to do so. Details of the operation of FOI at ECU can be found in ECU's Information Statement, available from the Office of Governance Services.

Student Services and Amenities Fee (SSAF)

In October 2011, the Australian Parliament passed the Higher Education Legislation Amendment (Student Services and Amenities) Bill 2011 to allow universities and other higher education providers to charge a compulsory Student Services and Amenities Fee (SSAF) from 2012. Under the legislation, universities may charge an annual SSAF up to the maximum amount prescribed in the legislation and indexed each year. For International students the SSAF is included as a component of their course fees. Australian citizens and permanent humanitarian visa holders are eligible for a SA-HELP Loan to defer payment of the SSAF.

SSAF income funds support services and facilities to enhance the student experience at ECU. For International students the SSAF will continue to be included as a component of their course fees.

Allocation of Income from the SSAF

A Steering Committee provides advice to the Vice-Chancellor on the services and amenities provided to ECU students and the best methods for providing these.

Membership of the Steering Committee includes undergraduate, postgraduate and International student representatives nominated by the ECU Student Guild, a student member of Council, the Guild President and senior staff of the University.

Early in each year, the Steering Committee drafts priorities for expenditure of the SSAF income. These priorities are published for feedback from students prior to finalisation. To date, SSAF proceeds have been allocated to services and initiatives ranging from student social clubs and societies to health, counselling, sport and recreation, student welfare, careers advice, student advocacy, orientation, student support for media, and student representation. Some of these services are provided by the Student Guild, others by the University and some jointly by the University and the Guild. The SSAF revenue is allocated entirely to the provision of student services and amenities.

Life Beyond University

Alumni

All ECU students become alumni when they graduate from the University. As alumni we hope you will stay in touch with ECU as we have much to offer you in the years ahead. A strong alumni network can be an extremely valuable resource in opening doors to employment prospects, business opportunities, social and cultural exchanges, research leads, personal development and so much more.

As a student, you can start to benefit from the alumni community through the ECU Alumni Mentoring Program. Through this initiative, students are paired with ECU graduates who are currently working in industry, to offer you career insight whilst still studying. For more information about the benefits and how to access them, or simply to update your details, get in touch with ECU's alumni office.
